Michelangelo designed the costumes still worn by the Swiss guards who patrol Vatican City.

Archaeologists have discovered the original line of the city walls on the eastern side of Jerusalem. It is now hoped that this discovery will enable researchers to determine the site of Herod's palace as well as the camping sites of the Roman 10th Legion.

Have you seen the new Christmas stamp. Very Christmasy.

It is interesting to learn however that the postoffice department rejected a Christmas stamp design with a cross on it. In line with other government agencies they apparently were afraid of offending the atheists in our nation.

We noticed the other day that three high school principals refused to put up Christmas trees at their schools because they were afraid they might be violating some law which had to do with separation of church and state.

How silly can you get? When asinine narrow mindedness takes the place of common sense, we are in sad shape.

Looks as though summer has left us again. Reading the other day where a fellow said that being discovered doing an act of kindness is one of the greatest feelings on earth.

Lots of folks want credit for doing something, but many times an act of kindness or thoughtfulness is done with no thought of telling anyone about it.

If you are accidentally discovered performing this service, then you are endowed with a great feeling because you know you didn't tell anyone and did not intend to tell anyone, but folks know it anyway.

A fellow who gets a lot out of life, Homer Pogue.

Nice Christmas card from Mrs. Laurie Rickert. You may remember that Mrs. Rickert is the mother of Lawrence Rickert who used to be at the Memorial Baptist Church. She lives at 314 South Harrison Street, Saginaw, Michigan. Mrs. Rickert took the Dale Carnegie course while she lived in Murray so she could meet people better and enjoy life more.

Made an error the other day. The address of Major James Day is the 88th Armor instead of the 6th Armor.

agreed today to assign nuclear bombers now, and Polaris-equipped submarines later, to a combined nuclear force within NATO. These historic arrangements, representing the first real start on multilateral nuclear striking power under NATO direction, were announced by President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan as they ended their three-day big-two meeting here.

To replace the abandoned Skybolt missile program, the United States will provide its Polaris missiles, at production cost, but without nuclear warheads, to the British when they have submarines capable of using these weapons.

It was expected that the first Polaris missiles would not be turned over to the British for actual use until about 1970, because time will be needed for construction of the nuclear submarines.

To start on development of a multilateral nuclear force, Kennedy and Macmillan agreed to subscribe to NATO immediately Anglo-American units now in existence—from the U.S. strategic forces, including the Strategic Air Command, United Kingdom Bomber Command and from tactical nuclear forces now held in Europe.

"Such forces would be assigned as part of a NATO nuclear force and targeted in accordance with NATO plans," Kennedy and Macmillan said in a joint statement on nuclear defense systems.

The Anglo-American agreement announced here also provided for building up the strength of their conventional forces on a worldwide basis.

As for their agreement to make strategic and tactical nuclear units available to NATO immediately, the two leaders said: "The President and the prime minister are convinced that this new plan will strengthen the nuclear defense of the Western alliance. 'In strategic terms, this defense is indivisible, and it is their conviction that in all ordinary circumstances of crisis or danger, it is this very unity which is the best protection of the west.'"

Young People Are Guests Of Rotary

The Murray Rotary Club yesterday had as their guests the basketball teams, cheer leaders, student organization president, coach and assistant and principals of Calloway County High, College High and Murray High schools.

Donald Tucker, who was in charge of the program, presented the groups from each of the three schools and an ovation was extended to each of them by the Rotarians.

Max B. Hurt was the speaker for the occasion. He told the Rotarians and their guests how time has changed the relationship between the farmer and the city dweller. He pointed out that today they are difficult to tell apart and that many farmers live in the city and many city workers live in the country.

Today, he said, the city and county dwellers have more in common and more to bind them together.

There is competition in every phase of life, he continued, but he pointed out that the greatest area of competition in Murray and Calloway County should be on who can bring the greatest honor and agreement to the county.

He told the young people, guests of the club, that in the not too distant future they would be the Rotarians, Lions and members of other civic clubs, and the cheerleaders would be the homemakers, and leaders in women's clubs.

He told them that words and actions, of young people in the schools, at sports events, and other functions reflected on the county as a whole, and that it behooved both young and old to exemplify themselves in a manner which would bring honor and respect to the county.

Frank Albert Stubbfield was a guest at the club. Mrs. Waylon Rayburn, who plays the piano each Thursday at the Rotary Club, was presented a gift on behalf of the club, by president Henry Holt.

A collection was taken for Mrs. S. L. Horn and the ladies who served the noon luncheon each Thursday to the club.

Bitter Cold Moves Back Into East

Bitter cold and heavy snow slapped the nation's North and East today on the last full day of autumn. The change in the weather threatened to cause hazards for Christmas travelers.

Snow fell from Kansas and Nebraska to the mountains of Virginia, and accumulations of up to five inches were expected before it quit.

With the Christmas holiday period scheduled to start at 6 p. m., highways already had become hazardous from the snow and rain.

Four traffic deaths were caused in southern Illinois alone by slick highways late Thursday.

The temperature tumbled to 12 below at Watertown, N. Y., early today. It was 16 in Detroit, Mich., 22 in Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., and 24 in Denver.

Honolulu, Hawaii, residents shivered Thursday in the lowest temperature on record. The mercury fell to 54, one degree lower than the previous record set in March, 1955, and February, 1961.

In a six hour period, Indianapolis, Ind., received three inches of snow, and Quincy, Ill., and Elkins, W. Va., two inches. More than three-tenths of an inch of freezing rain fell at St. Louis, Mo. — A 1,000-foot layer of fog returned to central California on Thursday night for the second night in a row. Thousands of holiday travelers were stranded at the San Francisco Airport and three traffic deaths were blamed on the fog.

25 Cars Jam Up As One Killed

A tractor-trailer roared out of a dense fog and plumed out of control into a traffic jam of cars and people at the eastern approach to the Scott-Fitzhugh Bridge east of Paris Thursday.

The truck ran down one man, whose car already had been involved in a minor accident, and killed him. The man's wife, still sitting in their car, suffered head injuries. An 18-year old Kentucky youth who was standing in a crowd of people was hurled down the side of the causeway and injured. Several other persons received injuries.

A large crowd of drivers and passengers who had gotten out of their cars to determine what was causing the traffic jam, had to scatter and leap down the sides of the causeway to avoid being hit by the truck.

The truck jack-knifed after hitting the first car and skidded down the highway into the tangle of cars and people.

The fog, rolling in from Kentucky Lake, was so thick, it was difficult to tell how many cars were involved. At least eight cars were damaged and as many as 25 or 30 had piled up in the traffic jam.

Struck by the truck and killed was Albert S. Langham, 74, Memphis. His wife was taken to Henry County General Hospital at Paris.

The 18-year old youth injured was the son of Otis Palmer of Paducah, Ky. Palmer said he and his son were standing by their car when the truck hurtled into view. He tried to pull his boy—a deaf mute—away from the road. But the truck hit the Palmer car, and the car knocked the boy over the side of the causeway leading to the bridge.

Retail Business Moves Ahead On The Local Front

(Special to the Ledger & Times)

NEW YORK, Dec. 21 —Despite the talk of recession that has been heard in all quarters for many months, business activity in Calloway County was relatively good in the past fiscal year.

The first comprehensive figures for the year, which ended on June 30th, show that income and spending remained at high levels locally.

The details are contained in the annual survey made by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It reveals the changes that have taken place in consumer attitudes over the 12 months in different parts of the country.

Retail stores in Calloway County, it shows, grossed $22,963,000 in the period, bettering their performance of the previous year, when their volume was $21,923,000.

The increase locally amounted to 2.6 percent. It compares favorably with the results reported for other parts of the State of Kentucky, where there was an average rise of 1.5 percent.

Retailers in many sections of the country not only failed to improve upon their fiscal 1961 figures but actually suffered a loss in volume. This occurred as consumers in their areas turned cautious, due to the fear that a recession was in the offing.

The gains that were achieved locally may be credited to a stronger feeling of confidence and optimism that prevailed and also to the fact that there was more money available.

The spending pattern was somewhat different, however, than it was in 1961. More emphasis than usual was given to the purchase of automobiles, jewelry, sports-wear, music supplies and household appliances. In the service industries, the growth was less rapid than before.

The report shows that earnings were at a high level in Calloway County. Local residents had an aggregate income in the year, after taxes, of $28,943,000.

It was equivalent to $4,318 in disposable income per local household.

At the present time, the recession talk has subsided and most of the forecasters are predicting that 1963 will be a year of modest growth in most sections of the economy.

Calloway In Lower Bracket Of Tournament

Host Calloway County High drew into a lower bracket berth yesterday as school officials met at the school for the pairings in the Calloway Christmas Tournament December 26, 27, 28, and 29.

An unusual draw prevented any of the eight participating clubs from meeting a team from its district in the opening round of play. Three districts, Districts One, Three and Four, are represented in the meet.

By drawing for upper or lower bracket by districts and then for the actual bracket slot the teams were separated from their district rivals on least the first round level. The tourney will open Wednesday night, December 26th, at seven o'clock at Mayfield High School from District Three meets North Marshall of the Fourth District.

At approximately 8:30 or thirty minutes after the completion of the first contest, Hickman County from the First will go against Wings from the Third.

Thursday night the action gets underway in the lower bracket with Symsonia of the Third meeting Calloway from the Fourth in the second contest Fulton County coached by Johnny West, tangle with Sedalia. Fulton County is the First District and Sedalia the Third.

Friday night the quarter-finals rounds will be played and a consolation game and championship game on Saturday night. First, second, third and fourth place trophies will be presented.

The upper bracket team will be the home team on the score board in each session.

Holy Communion Is Set By Methodists

The First Methodist Church will observe Christmas Eve with Holy Communion in the church sanctuary from 7:00 to 8:00 p. m.

The pastor, Rev. W. E. Mischke, states that the service is open to all who wish to participate in this sacred celebration in preparation for the observance of the birth of Christ. Those who wish to participate may come and leave at any time during the hour.

HICKMAN FIRE

HICKMAN, Ky. (UPI) — Damage was estimated today at $35,000 from a fire that destroyed a grocery store and for a time Thursday threatened a number of other buildings including the City Hall.

Firemen brought the blaze under control about an hour after it started at 2:35 p. m. (EST). Cause of the fire was unknown but authorities said it may have been started by faulty wiring.

Southern Fans Have Hard Time Keeping Eye On Bouncing Ball

By MARTIN LADER

United Press International Basketball fans in the South are finding it hard to keep their eyes on the bouncing ball this season.

While an occasional upset is an expected occurrence during the long college basketball campaign,
the South has been overplaying
its hand thus far and startling form reversals have struck its three top contenders for the national championship.

The latest power to feel the sharp sting of surprise was Duke,
which fell before Davidson, 72-69,
at Charlotte, N.C., Tuesday night.
It was the first loss in seven games for the Blue Devils, who are ranked second behind Cincinnati in this week's United Press International ratings.

Follow Natural Course
The reversal now seems to be following a natural course in the South, where in less than three weeks fifth-ranked Mississippi
State lost to unranked Virginia Tech and 10th-ranked Kentucky dropped home-court decisions to Virginia Tech and North Carolina.

Davidson, the smallest school in the Southern Conference, made it look almost easy against the mighty Duke by leading all the way after the midway point of the first half. The Wildcats enjoyed a comfortable 39-28 lead at the intermission and stretched it to as much as 15 points in the second half.

Further humiliation befell Duke
as All-America prospect Art Hey-man was held to just four points in the second half as the Blue Devils tried to ignite a winning rally. Heyman did contribute 16 points in the first half for a game total of 20.

Sophomore Fred Hetzel was the big gun for Davidson as he led both teams with 27 points and also dominated both backboards.

It was the fifth triumph in six starts for Davidson and avenged
an early season loss to Duke.

UCLA, ranked No. 16 nationally, sank 55 per cent of its field shots to defeat Butler, 81-68. Walt Hazard had 17 points to lead the Bruins, who recorded their fifth victory in seven starts, but it was Butler's Jeff Blue who took game laurels with 23 points and 15 rebounds.

Deacons Beat Virginia
Wake Forest overcame a 10-point halftime deficit to down
Virginia, 78-73, in an Atlantic Coast Conference battle. Four men hit in double figures for the Deacons, who clicked on 60 per cent of

Murray Meets Two Clubs Over Holidays

The Throughbreds will play two Tennessee teams during the Christmas holidays, Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro and Tennessee Tech
here in Murray.

To inaugurate the 1963 OVC
campaign, the high-flying Racers
will go south to battle Middle's Blue Raiders on Jan. 2.

Coach Cal Luther's men will return to Murray to face Tennessee Tech on Jan. 5.

Though clobbered by Morehead, 103-59, Middle Tennessee rebounded to edge a superior Western five, 85-82. The scores would seem to indicate that the Blue Raiders are a "hot-and-cold" team.

Playing under their new head coach, Coach Bill Stokes, Middle opened its season with 97-77 overtime victory over Florence State.
The Tigers used a 1-2-2 zone defense for the first time in many years, but were unable to contain Gopher senior Eric Magdanz, who popped in 30 points.

Tulsa registered its fifth consecutive victory without defeat by romping over Adams State, 107-54, behind the 39-point effort of James King; Barry Kramer scored 22 points to lead New York University to a 67-59 win over Lafayette; Oklahoma City beat North Texas State, 79-63; Oklahoma defeated Texas Tech, 85-62; St.
Joseph's tripped St. John's, 61-56;
Cornell upended Syracuse, 93-77,
and Rhode Island rolled up a 121-92 victory over New Hampshire.

Bob Neumann tallied 27 points to lead Memphis State to a 78-70
decision over touring Minnesota.

Thorobreds Take Well Deserved Rest Before Tackling The Ohio Valley Loop Competition

Murray State College's basketball team, which has posted a fine 6-1 won-loss record during the first one-third of its season,
will take a well-deserved rest
during the holidays — but there will be little rest for the Racers
when they return from their holiday lull.

The Racers, who made San Francisco State their most recent victim by 83-63 Tuesday night—jump into conference action with their first post-holiday game, a meeting with dangerous Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro on January 2.

"I've been very pleased with our team's performance so far," Luther said. "I've never had a team to hustle more or work harder."

"We've shown in our first seven games that we have a fine defensive club, but I'm concerned with our lack of size and inconsistency at the free throw line, two factors that definitely could hurt us in conference play."

The Racers have been made solid choices to win the Ohio Valley Conference championship but Luther disagrees with his fellow coaches, saying, "We just don't have the size to be picked to win."

The Racers' mentor admits,
though that his club "has the potential to be a contender," but cites fast-starting Morehead as "the team to beat." He also mentioned Eastern Tennessee Tech, and East Tennessee as strong contenders and added that Western,

which has "three of the finest players in the league," and Middle Tennessee cannot be ignored.

Despite Luther's restrained optimism, he admits that the Racers'
early season performance has impressed him. Most impressive has been Murray's defensive play, which has been good enough to give Murray the team lead in defense among conference teams.

The Racers have checked three teams to less than 50 points, and only two teams, Bradley and Arkansas State, have managed to score more than 70 against the Murray defense.

Ironically, Murray's best overall performance of the year probably came in its lone defeat, 79-76, at the hands of Bradley on the Braves' home court.

Against lesser schools Murray has not been pushed, except for a narrow 50-46 victory over a polish (Oglethorpe (Ga.) team that forced the Racers to play its kind of game.

Other victories have come over
New Mexico State (90-55), Mc-

Kendree College (79-44), Arkansas State (94-76), Kansas State College of Emporia (67-44), and San Francisco State College (83-63).

Jim Jennings, Murray's 6-6 junior center, is the pacesetter in two individual departments. The All-OVC selection is averaging 20.1
points and 20 rebounds per game, taking up where he left off last
season.

Other double digit scorers are guards Scott Schlosser (13.9) and Al Varnas (13.4). Both are 6-2 juniors.

Schlosser, who has been bothered recently by an ankle injury, is the team's leading field goal
shooter with an average of .525,
based on 42 goals in 80 tries.

Varnas is the best free throw shooter with a .782 average (16 of 21). Starting guard Gene Pendleton, a 6-2 sophomore, has a perfect record at the charity lane:
1 for 1.

Murray's free-throw shooting
has been a sore spot, just as it was last year. Luther's troops have hit only 85 of 147 attempts, a poor 578 per cent. The field goal shooting, on the other hand, has been better than average: .435 (228 of 524).

A Work-Free Breakfast Is Gift For Mom

A treat for the housewife is a breakfast on Christmas morning that is almost work-free, says a University of Tennessee home economics professor.

of her electrical appliances, according to Miss Lyle Mamer, associate professor of home management, equipment, and family economics at UT.

To have a work-free breakfast, begin before the holiday rush starts by baking and freezing a good supply of waffles. Then on Christmas eve, set the table with a pretty cloth and center piece. Prepare the juice and put it in the refrigerator in an airtight container.

To add an extra "luxury," set up the electric coffeemaker and connect it to a timed outlet on the range or clock radio.

Then on Christmas morning the "lady of the house" will awake to the tantalizing smell of fresh coffee and be able to finish breakfast preparation in almost no time by popping her frozen waffles into the toaster or under the broiler. Bacon, ham, or sausage can be quickly prepared in an electric, controlled-heat frypan.

This planned preparation for breakfast is not the only way electrical appliances can keep the housewife from becoming a "slave to the festivities" during the holidays, says Miss Mamer.

For preparation as the season approaches the freezer has no equal as a "servant." Entire meals can be prepared and frozen, ready to be used after a full day of Christmas shopping or an outing at the school or church program. Cakes, cookies, candies, fruits, vegetables, meats, and most foods that will be needed during the holidays can be prepared ahead of time and frozen. A holiday dinner can be fixed and frozen several weeks in advance, ready for quick preparation on Christmas day.

Consider Giving A Gift Of Safety For This Christmas

Consider giving a safety gift for Christmas. You might save a life. A little exploring might give you a clue to a real need.

Parents of married sons and daughters might give a sturdy step ladder, a fireplace screen, or a safety gasoline can. Many couples have not invested in these items that can contribute to safer living.

Medicine cabinets and gun racks equipped with locking mechanisms are excellent gifts for families with children. Seat belts given as a gift, installed, and used might be that extra margin of safety in keeping a family and friends around to celebrate the holidays next year. Other relatives and friends might be glad to have these practical safety items.

Other gift ideas are ash trays with deep grooves to hold cigarettes securely, rubber tub or shower mats with suction cups that hold secure, stair gates where there are babies, and flash lights for lighting the way when there are no other lights.

The Best Gift: Be Sure You're Still Around

The lovely beauty of the 1962 Christmas Season is beginning to cast its spell over every child from 1 to 100. Our prayer is a safe and happy holiday for each and every one. Take a bit of time to plan safety into your holiday plans. Christmas wouldn't be much fun if one of the family was accidentally injured or killed. Having A Tree? The lovely, traditional Christmas tree itself is one of the biggest safety hazards. If you can cut a tree and put it up the same day in a container of water and let it remain in the house only a few days, chances of fire are reduced greatly. Unfortunately, most trees delivered to metropolitan cities for use by home owners have to be cut a month or more before being sold and thus are normally pretty dry even before being placed in the home. A fresh, diagonal cut and a stand containing water will help with such trees, but the fire potential is still such that precautions should be taken. No tree fire-proofing treatments yet tested have convinced Underwriters Laboratories that any relaxation of efforts to keep trees moist and green can be justified. In fact, some treatments are not only ineffective but also give off smoke and fumes beyond those normally given off by a burning, untreated tree. Be sure 15 Amp. fuses are used in light circuits and that lights are UL approved.

Going To Decorate? —Fireproof cotton angel hair and other decorations may become highly flammable when sprayed with fireproof "snow" from a pressurized can.

—Electrical decorations should not be used on a metallic tree as the whole tree can become "alive" with electricity in case of a fault in the wiring.

—Use weather proof cords and sockets for outside decorations.

—While plastic foam used for ornaments and other Christmas decorations might seem fireproof, it is not. In fact, it burns easily and an ornament on a tree can be ignited by a spark. Blue-colored plastic foam, however, has been treated with a chemical to make it fire-resistant.

A gimmick highly advertised for holiday fun is the "dancing mothball." You place mothballs in a colored solution of vinegar and water, then add baking soda which releases carbon dioxide causing the mothballs to jump. Since mothballs are poisonous this is not a game for children.

Other modern Christmas decorations could also be toxic to small children. Bubbling tree lights contain methylene chloride which if swallowed could cause slight poisoning. Fire salts that produce colored flames on logs have metal bases which could cause vomiting if eaten. And berries on holly and mistletoe contain an unknown poison that produces severe vomiting.

Follow Safety Rules When You Select A Christmas Tree

Is your Christmas tree going to be a hazard this year, or will you take necessary precautions to prevent a fire which might end your Christmas holidays in disaster?

John Sharp, University of Tennessee extension forester, gives several rules that should be followed in handling Christmas trees. Select a fresh green tree; if needles are turning brown, the tree has already dried out and will be a fire hazard. Before purchasing a tree, test the flexibility of the small branches and the drooping of the needles.

After you buy the tree, saw off the butt end at least one inch above the original cut. Place the freshly cut trunk in water and keep the level of water above the cut for the entire time the tree is indoors. Support the tree well and keep it away from fireplaces, radiators, and television sets.

Investigations conducted at the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory indicate that the use of fire-retarding chemicals sometimes do more harm than good. Since trees do not absorb chemicals as quickly as they absorb water, they become fire hazards much more readily. Also, some of the chemicals cause needles to discolor and fall off within two to three days.

Other simple precautionary measures involve using lights with the wiring in good condition, and remembering to turn the lights off at bedtime and when leaving the house.

Psychologist Says Belief In St. Nick Helps Develop Child

Santa Claus helps us to teach our children more than one lesson, according to a University of Tennessee psychology professor. Belief in the Santa Claus myth stimulates the active imaginations of pre-school children and encourages their creative potentials, said U.T. Professor of Psychology Omer Milton.

"Santa Claus belongs with the make-believe, playmates of children. They love him and I think it is good that they do." Besides stimulating imaginations, Dr. Milton said that Santa Claus serves children as an introduction to our culture because the emphasis is always on what he is going to bring. Thus he is a materialistic Santa, the product of a material-conscious society.

"Santa Claus is also used to reinforce the lesson that good behavior gets rewarded. We tell our children that if you aren't good, Santa won't come." Dr. Milton says that this lesson on the rewards of good behavior comes as an almost immediate contrast to the Halloween lesson we teach our children. Just a little less than two months before Christmas, we show them how to express their hostility. We then use Christmas to teach them that there is more reward in good behavior.

The disappointment that children experience when they learn there is no Santa serves a further purpose toward developing children's attitudes, said Dr. Milton. They usually become enchanted with Santa when they enter school.

The Santa Claus myth's exploding is a way of preparing them for many other such experiences as they grow up."

HAZEL RT. 2 NEWS

First a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to each and everyone.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Grogan who were married Saturday evening.

Also to all the newly weds and new parents and sympathy to all the bereaved. May we all have health and happiness in the new year.

Oh! man winter hit us with a bang when it started. But we had had a wonderful fall, but I'm never ready for snow.

Mrs. Lassiter Hill and Mrs. Paul Blacklock left December 10th for Fort Lee, Virginia where their new granddaughter had arrived on December 8th to Pic. and Mrs. J. D. "Bobbie" Hill. I understand the little miss is being called Robin Dawn. All doing well they report.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Curd are spending the time with Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Curd that Mrs. Hill is away.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Carroll and children of Paducah were last week guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allbritters.

The Jim Allbritters visited Miss Mayme Morgan of Paris, Tennessee Sunday. Miss Morgan is improving.

Mrs. Thomas Mathis was able to be out to church Sunday after a two weeks illness.

Miss Kaye Lamb was in Murray Hospital Friday to Sunday afternoon with pneumonia. Is feeling much better now.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Williams and children Audry Simmons were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Simmons. Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Oren Simmons and Mrs. Ronald Housden, stopped in Murray Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby C. Stumblfield and children moved to their new home Saturday.

Bro. Lloyd Cantor preached two good sermons here Sunday and the little boys and some of the older men did well with our song exercises before worship Sunday evening. Bro. and Sister Cantor and Berry were dinner guests of the George Lennards. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Moody of Murray were afternoon callers.

Recent guests have been Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Salmon, Mrs. George Salmon and son, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Barton and son, Mrs. Edna Lamb, Melvin Grogan, and Mr. and Mrs. Nix Wilson.

We will try to do more writing next year than this, seems like I never find time or know anything to write.

Steve Spikeland was back at church Sunday after a tonsillectomy.

Mrs. Otis Fulwell and Patsy have been sick for weeks with coughs and colds, also Jan Miller has had a rough time this fall.

Best wishes to all, and lets hope no more weather cold as the past week was.
